Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—Proceedings in the courtmartial trial of Major Henry C. Davis of the United States Marine George F. Ellit of the Marine corps, etied, had given testimony.

A telegam was sent to Secretary Meyer of the navy department asking permission to adjourn the court indefinitely, until it could be learned when Mrs. Alvira Davis, mother of the accused officer, and other witnesses could be here to testify. The sending of the telegram is a matter for form, and a short session of the court will be held thomorrow, when the reply of the secretary will be read and if he the secretary will be read, and if he gives the desired permission the court will be adjourned. Charges Which Led to the Courtmartial.

The trial is attracting much attention from naval and marine officers. Out of a long standing unfriendli-ess between General Elliot and Major Davis grew the charges which led to the courtmartial. Major Davis was accused of insubordination because he wrote a letter to the courtmartial wrote a letter to the secretary of the navy in which he declared that Gen-eral Elliot had always been his ene-my and had insuited him. Washington, Jan. 5.-George Nelken Washington, Jan. 5.—Sadness and gloom marked the reconvening of congress today after a fortnight's recess over the holidays, for senators returned to find vacant the seat of Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia. Immediately after the announcement of the death of Mr. Elkins had been made in broken tones by Senator Scott the senate adjourned. The house was forced by the passing of the district typeme court to cancel the senate adjourned. The house was formally notified of the passing of the statesman by Representative Gaines of West Virginia and also adjourned. The senate was in session six minutes, the house a scant half hour.

Before adjournment both houses ap-

Delegates from Thirty Nations Will Attend Student Federation Conference. New York, Jan. 5.—Tammany Hail was on fire tonight, for the second time within a month. Flames shot out of the rear windows, the corridors were filled with smoke and there was a dense jam in the streets, but little damage was done.

Apparently the flames broke out in rubbish, paint and oils left by workmen who have been repairing the damage done by the last fire. None of the reords, paintings and curiosiof the reords, paintings and curiosi-tles removed then had been returned, and they were in no danger tonight. They are organizing the great world's student federation conference to be held in the Levant, probably at Constantinople, this spring. Leaders from about thirty nations will attend. The president expressed the deepest inter-
